Vital Statistics for Children in District 1

Citywide rankings for District 1

#2

#2

#1

in students
passing the English & Language Arts PSSA

in students passing the Math PSSA

in students
who attend school peacefully

The children in District 1 need the tools and resources to achieve and be healthy.

In the FY 2025 Philadelphia must:

1.Increase city funding for the School District by $100M

2.Expand the number of children PHLpreK serves by 250.

3. Give children after-school enrichment options by preserving after-school services for 8,000 children served currently by the School District, investing $8.8M for youth programming at recreation centers, and continue $2M for Philly Youth Sports Fund that serves 5,000 more youth.

4. Make neighborhoods safer by redirecting the $4M in cost savings associated with reduced juvenile justice spending to diversion programs.

How are the students doing in District 1?

10,666

Children attending public or charter schools

96.3%

Students peacefully attending school

48.6%

Children enrolled in high-quality pre-k

47.3%

Students passing the English/Language Arts PSSA

43.2%

Students with stellar school attendance (>95%)

31.5%

Students passing the Math PSSA

Who are the children growing up in District 1?

Children in poverty

15.0%

Working age teens with jobs (16 to 19 years old)

Are children in District 1 healthy?

(citywide data)

76.0%
Children fully

Children fully immunized (citywide data)

4.5% Children with lead poisoning

What's keeping the children down in District 1?

26.4%

Families receiving SNAP benefits

10

Number of shooting victims under 19 years old

39.1%

Families paying too much rent

20

Number of teacher and support staff vacancies at school

Setting Philadelphia on a path to a prosperous future starts with children

